death toll showed a 28.6 percent reduction from that recorded during the corresponding period The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol states that 35 persons died in traffic mishaps during the past month. Forty-nine killed during March 1955. This was the greatest reduction in Mississippi fatalities reported in more than a year, according to Col. T. B. Birdsong, executive assistant to Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarborough. Mississippi has reported an increase in traffic fatalities each month since March 1955, and the alarming jump pushed the state's overall 1955 death toll to a nearrecord high. The final '55 total exceeded 530 killed.

HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL

As of April 1, 113 persons have perished in Mississippi highway accidents. This is a deduction of one fatality from the number killed during the first three months of 1955.

Mississippi motorists have been warned to expect increased traffic law enforcement in the future. Radar will be worked extensively, and minor as well as serious violations ticketed.
